Dinner is On Us!

My students need garden tools like a rake, spade and gloves for our Community Garden Science Project.

My Students

My students are hands-on learners. My biggest challenge in class is keeping the science coming alive for them.

I am a firm believer and supporter of the giving back to the community.

I love to watch my fifth grade student learn that they can be productive by way of growing seeds into what will potentially feed them. They earn great satisfaction from their successes.

My Project

I have arranged for all of my students to receive 2 mini greenhouses and supplies (seeds and soil) for Lincoln's 46 fifth graders. Once our mini greenhouse gardens are ready to be transplanted, they will be planted at the Community Garden. However, that is where we have a need. We are asking for your support! My students are in need of shovels, garden rakes, hand transplanters, hand tillers, garden hoes, and a yard cart for their Community Garden. With these supplies, we will be able to plant their plants into the Community Garden for everyone to enjoy.

Not only would this project allow my students a wide range of environmental science experiences and knowledge, but also an opportunity to help feed their families.

The will learn how to properly grow fruits, vegetables, and flowers in our environment.
